IMPORTANT New ALTERATIONS.

Germany.—The opening of the direct Berlin and Breslau Railway has rendered necessary a revised Train Service, and three Express Trains now run daily performing the distance, in about 6 hours.

The opening of the direct Berlin and Dresden Railway establishes a third line between the two capitals, and a new Express Service—of two Trains only (Personal will, it is expected, be inaugurated on or about the 1st inst. This will materially reduce the time and expense of the journey between Berlin and Vienna.

An improved Train Service with accelerated Express Trains will shortly be established on the Bavarian State Railways, being rendered necessary by the opening of several new Through Routes.

Besides the above, a greatly improved Train Service has been established on most of the great German Lines.

Holland.—An improved and accelerated Express Service has been put on between Rotterdam and Cologne.

Sweden.—The Express Trains have been accelerated.

Russia.—The speed of the Express Trains on the St. Petersburg, Warsaw, and Königsberg lines has been increased.

Italy.—A great improvement in the Train Service, and increase of speed by the Express Trains is expected throughout the peninsula, consequent on the opening of the direct Florence and Rome Railway. The opening of the section from Cotrone to Monastrace, on the Calabrian branch of the Great Southern of Italy, which is expected to take place within a few weeks, will place Reggio (opposite Messina) in possession of through Railway communication with all parts of the continent, and establish an unbroken line of Railway between Calais and Sicily. The Terni Railway will shortly be completed, and reduce the distance between Florence and Naples.

TRAVELLING ON THE CONTINENT.

Beneficial effects of change of Climate.

"There must certainly be something more than mere fancy in the sudden improvement which ma "experience in their feelings and general state of health by leaving England for a tour on the Con "nent I would say to the dyspeptic and the bilious, to those who labour under hypochondria "diseases and a sorry state of the digestive organs—embark for the Continent (and pray Heaven th "you may be sick in crossing the Channel) and take a journey along the banks of the Rhine "Steamer, which, with its soothing and diverting effects, I would not hesitate in my capacity of phy "cian to recommend amongst the most powerful auxiliaries for the cure of bad stomachs and t "blues."—Dr. Granville.

soap.—Travellers should provide themselves with this useful article (which can be had of J. Adams, 59, Fleet Street) before proceeding to the Continent; if they fail so to do, they will find orm a serious item in their bills, soap being a rare article in Continental Hotels, and, if supplied lways charged about 75 centimes.

Dress.—The following ought to be sufficient:—A plain morning coat of black cloth with grey weed trousers, and light vest, six shirts, the same number of pairs of socks, two neck and six pocket dkerchiefs, one pair of boots off, another on, (elastic kid dress-boots pack best,) and a pair of slip-s, in the most complete kit necessary. The following outfit for Pedestrians is recommended:— ong tweed coat and waistcoat Flannel trousers Double soled boots. One Flannel shirt or, off. One pair of Kid shoes, which pack quite flat without cutting Half-a-dozen white collars. One woollen socks on, one pair in knapsack. One pair tweed trousers. Two pairs cotton socks One r of slippers. One neck tie. Portable dressing case to hold comb, razor, and tooth brush. Light terproof coat, which straps on outside of knapsack.

Shoes or Laced Boots.—These should be double-soled, with three rows of hob-nails and hout iron heels, which are dangerous, and liable to slip in walking over rocks.

Knapsacks, Railway Rugs, Waterproof Coats.—Tourists should be provided with lacintosh Knapsack, which, is lighter than any that can be bought abroad, also a Rug for Night velling, and a Waterproof Coat; these can be obtained from W. J. Adams, 59, Fleet Street.

Portmanteaus are better purchased in England than anywhere else.

Purses.—A stout leathern purse or canvas bag, to hold silver crown pieces and dollars, one or leather straps, to keep together small parcels, will be found very useful.

Writing-case.—Portable writing and dressing-cases are better procured in England.

Umbrella.—A strong substantial one, that will also serve as a walking-stick, is the best.

Measuring Tape.—A wheel tape (about 6 yards) will be found useful.

Door Fasteners.—These are useful to travellers to ensure privacy in Continental hotels. J. Adams, 59, Fleet Street, has always a stock of excellent door and window fasteners.

Passports.—A Foreign Office passport, the price of which is now reduced to 2s., can be obtained ough W. J. Adams, 59, Fleet Street. It is a general passport for every country, and continues id for an indefinite period, the visas only requiring to be renewed according to the respective gulations. For particulars see pp. xlviii to ll. N.B.—Always carry your Passport in your pocket, s valuable under all circumstances abroad. It is now rarely called for in any part of Austria.

Landing on the Continent.—No sooner does the steamboat reach port, than the traveller ds himself pestered by discordant cries dinned into his ears by the porters and employés of the differ- Hotels. Showers of cards will be poured on him, and the prices charged bawled out lustily. To avoid this, let him determine on his Hotel beforehand, and name it at once, when the agent will immedi-ly step forward, and take the new arrival under his protection to the Hotel.

Custom-house Regulations.—Passengers, on landing, are not permitted to take more n one small bag with them on shore. The Custom-House Porters, who are responsible for its safety, ivey it direct from the vessel to the Custom-House, where the owner, to save personal attendance, d better send the Commissionaire afterwards with the keys. The Commissionaire will also obtain the cessary official signature of the police to the traveller's passport. The landlord of the inn is respon-ble for his honesty.

Nowhere are courtesy and good-humour better repaid than during the examination of your baggage ever be in a hurry; collect your packages and open them one by one yourself, lock one before the xt is "visited." The officers are only doing their duty, and can make that duty very disagreeable in turn for any hauteur or want of courtesy. Always "declare" any article you believe liable to duty, d remember that every Custom House Officer abroad can search your person if he chooses.

CAUTION.—Silks, lace, and other foreign goods, packed with articles of apparel, or otherwise con-aled, are, as well as the articles in which they may be placed, liable to seizure; and traveller are rned that the seizure is strictly enforced unless the examining officer is informed of the articles being the package and the goods duly declared previously to its being opened.

Hotel Key.—Always lock your door on leaving your room, and if going for a walk, hang the k on the number of your room, on the key board. The Landlord is then (and then only,) responsible the safety of your room, and visitors learn more easily that you are out.

To ensure being called in proper time, mark the hour against the number of your room on the s or board always provided for this.

Fees to Waiters.—In most cases the "Service" is added to the bill; otherwise one franc, about that amount in other money,) per head (adults), per day, is liberal.

Children.—Children are carried free (if accompanied by an adult) up to the age of three ye throughout the greater part of the Continent. In Austria and Switzerland children travel free u two years, but are generally allowed to pass without payment for a year longer. In England, Norw and Sweden, children between the ages of three and twelve pay half price; in Austria and Swit land between the ages of two and ten they pay half the usual fare. In Prussia two children under age of ten travel with one ticket, a single child paying full fare in 3rd class, 3rd class fare in 2nd cl and 2nd class fare in 1st class; in Belgium three-quarter fare from three to eight years of age; an France half fare for those between three and seven. As a rule, children travelling at half price allowed less free luggage than adults; in France they have a free allowance of only 20 kilo. (44 instead of 30 kilo. (66lb.) It is always advisable to shew the child who is to travel either grati at reduced price to the booking-clerk, and in France it is usual to stamp "ENFANT" upon ticket of the adult who accompanies the child (as this saves disputes as to age at the end of the journ

Coaches and Diligences.—Notwithstanding the immense development of the Rail system on the Continent, which has left scarcely one town of any importance in Central Europe un vided with Railway communication, travellers still find it very convenient to avail themselves of many public conveyances provided for their use. They are still numerous in mountain districts, e cially in Switzerland, the Tyrol, the Highlands of Bavaria, the Black Forest, Western Austria. The fares are generally low, and the carriages often really comfortable, though not invariably goo all parts. In Spain the coaches mostly are comfortable, but the fares enormously high (often reach 4d. per English mile). In North Germany, including Saxony, the fixed tariff is 6 sgr. per Ger mile (1½d. per English mile). In Austria the fares vary from 1d. to 2½d. per English mile, and coaches are in general expensive, slow, and tedious. In Baden, Bavaria, and Würtemburg, the f are very moderate, varying, as a rule, from 12 to 20 kreuzers per German mile (the average fare trifle over 1d. a mile). In Belgium and France the fares are also reasonable, the average cha seldom exceeding 8 centimes per kilomètre (1½d. a mile). In Switzerland the coaches are invari comfortable, and their speed such as to satisfy most travellers. The fixed rate is 65 centimes Stunden (2d per English mile) and 1 fr. (3d. per mile) for the same distance over the Alpine Pa which are traversed by sledges during the greater part of the year. The coupé is 5 c. (1d.) per Eng mile dearer; but this is only found on the larger diligences, and is an exception to the rule. Chil under 10 and over 3 half price. 44lb. are carried free of charge, and return tickets are someti issued at a small reduction.

Luggage.—Free allowance on the Continent in English lbs.:—

Germany	50 lbs. to all classes.	Russia	55 lbs. to all classes.
Austria	55 lbs. do.	Spain	66 lbs. do.
France	66 lbs. do.	Sweden	66 lbs. do.

The following will help those who wish to have some idea of the charge for excess luggage.

Austria ...	60 lbs (foreign) costs ½ the 3rd class maximum fare	France	62 lbs (foreign) ½ 3rd cl. maximum
Bavaria	50 lbs. (foreign) do.	Switzerland	52 lbs. (to eign) do.
		Wurtemburg	40 lbs. (foreign) do.

The charges for luggage in Belgium and Italy are very high; no allowance made.

NOTE.—A receipt for luggage must be procured before starting (even if there be no charge m and no excess weight), and such luggage ticket must be carefully kept, as without it the luggage not be given up.

Luggage should be as limited in amount, as light, and as portable as possible. For a gentlem a short and deep portmanteau, strengthened to resist the pressure of heavier packages, be most convenient, and can be conveyed by any of the continental conveyances. The name p.ace of destination should be distinctly written on the cover. But, as in many instances, parties not travel without carrying with them a large quantity of baggage, we recommend them to send i in transit per Luggage Train, as by this conveyance a considerable saving is effected. As a however, never part with your luggage. Baggage registered to be sent on en transit, it must be membered, cannot be got at by the owner till it has reached its destination, though conveyed by same train with himself.

Passengers with through tickets can register their Luggage by all through services betw London and Paris, (via Dover and Calais, Folkestone and Boulogne, and Newhaven and Dieppe); between London, Brussels, and Cologne, and many of the principal cities of the Continent. Dover and Calais), unless the Baggage by the Mail Trains is registered, it may be detained at Landing Port for the following Train.

Digitized by Google

Travellers taking through tickets from Calais to Stations on the Rhine beyond Cologne need not gister their luggage beyond Cologne as all luggage, without exception is examined there.

Porterage of Luggage.—Travellers will save themselves much trouble and many over- arges by always asking the proprietor of the hotel to which they go, to settle with the porter for ggage.

Piacres, Vigilantes, and Cabs.—The Driver always expects a few sous for himself, (pour re.) Pay this with your fare, and so appear to know the custom and avoid extortion

Railway Carriages.—These have (as in England) much improved of late, even on the Con- ent, which has alwa s left us far behind in this respect. As a rule it may b said, that the carriages e much more comfortable in the North than in the South or Europe, and that, with few exceptions, roughout the whole of Ger many and the greater part of German-Switzerland, the 2nd class carriages e nearly equal to the 1st class in England France, Italy Spain, or French-Switzerland. The 2nd d 3rd class in Belgium, France, and Italy, are now very much more spacious comfortable and clean, an formerly. On many of the French Express trains and on nearly all trains in Ba den, Wurtem- rg and some other parts of Germany, wagons containing w ter-closets are attached: it is to be ped, for the comfort of travellers, that this will soon b universal

Sleeping Carriages.—The Mann Boudoir Sleeping Car, having beds, lavatories, water osets, and other appointments rendering travelling more co f rtable will be found on many ntinental Railways, at a moderate extra charge. For par iculars see page 829

During the five or six winter months, the carriages 1, 2, and 3 class, without exception) are well ated with iron stoves throughout the greater part of Northern Europe Germany, and Switzerland. hen not heated with stoves, foot-warmers are provided; but in Belgium and in France (as elsewhere the South of Europe) these are only found in 1st class carriages, and are always provided and charged ien required, free of any charge whatever. Those who object to smoking can almost always pro- re a carriage in which smoking is strictly forbidden. Except in Germany, smoking is only allowed sufferance and those who object have only to insist upon their right; those who cannot make own their wishes from their ignorance of the language have only to point to the notice generally ached to the non-smoking carriages, which hint proves for the most part sufficient. As a rule, lies have no diff culty in procuring a ladies' compartment; indeed carriages are generally reserved them on all through trains on most lines on the Continent

Railway Fares. These can easily be ascertained without difficulty, a fare-table being nearly ways attached to the booking-office. In Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy, the fare is legibly nted on the tickets, which is a great guarantee to the inexperienced traveller against fraud on the rt of the booking clerk. The fares on the Continent are very much lower than in England, being e lowest in Belgium Bavaria Baden, Wurtemburg South Italy, Norway, Sweden, and North Ger- any. In Austria the fares by the slow trains (Goods with Passengers) are little more than half the dinary fares. In Belgium the fares are often only one-third those charged in the United Kingdom, d in the other countries mentioned very far below our own. Considering the comfort and conve- ence, the 2nd class carriages in Central Europe are far cheaper and more to be recommended than e 1st and 3rd classes, the 1st being very much dearer than the 2nd without corresponding advan- ge, and the 3rd, little cheaper than the 2nd and far inferior in every respect.

Return Tickets.—Almost universal abroad, and issued upon terms far more liberal than y granted by our English lines. As a rule, they are only available for the day on which they are ued, but in Germany they are often available for from two to five days, and in France on some lines r two days, or from Saturday to Monday. Whenever Return Tickets are issued, they are issued to d class passengers

Return Tickets are issued in Baden, Bavaria, Denmark Holland, and Wurtemberg, at a fare and a lf for the double journey (i.e. a reduction of 25 per cent off the double fare). In Belgium and Swit- rland a Return Ticket is given at a reduction of 20 per cent. or at the rate of 1 3-5th fares; in xony generally at a fare and 1-3rd; in North Germany at a rate varying from a fare and 1-7th to fare and 3-4ths. In Austria return tickets are not yet general but are sometimes issued. In ance the rates are as follows—on the Nord Railway 1½ fares (1 7 10 fares for 3rd class); on the Ouest ne 1½ to 1¾ fares (though occasionally lower); on the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Line, 1½ to 1¾ res (issued only on special occasions and to large towns); on the Est, 1½ fares (except out of Paris, ich is 1¾ fares and more); on the Orleans and Southern Midi Lines, return tickets are only issued to d from a few stations. In Italy Return Tickets (14 day only) are issued at an average rate of a fare d two thirds. Return Tickets are not always available by Express trains; inquiry should be made.

Telegraphic Communications.—Throughout the whole of Belgium and Switzerland, e tariff for inland messages is fixed at 50 centimes (5d.) English travellers in Switzerland, are advised the height of the season to telegraph beforehand for bed rooms at the fashionable hotels along the aten track. In most countries the local rates are low

Switzerland and Mountainous Districts.—Pocket Aneroid Barometers for measur- g heights with great accuracy are manufactured by Newton & Co., Fleet St., Temple Bar. avellers, ascending mountains, should be provided with a flock of oiled silk as the best protection ainst the weather. In places where the labour and heat of the ascent render an additional outer rment a severe incumbrance. A belt round the waist and a mountain-pole, are also of service. The best restorative is tea. Provisions should be conveyed in a knapsack or naversack, of which the Guide will take charge, and the contents of which he will expect to share. The traveller should never lose sight of his Guides, as he may frequently be in considerable danger without being aware of it, especially near glaciers. Persons subject to giddiness, should be cautious of venturing into certain situations.

Travellers visiting the glacier passes will find great comfort from Glycerine, applied to the exposed parts of the face. It should be applied before starting; and a small bottle should be carried in the pocket, from which the lips may be anointed from time to time. This will prevent the painful excoriation from which some persons suffer. It is also efficacious as a cure, but prevention is better. Price & Co.'s Glycerine is the best, and may be had of W. J. Adams, 59, Fleet Street.

Cholera - Mosquito Bites.—A simple remedy for Cholera & Dysentery, used in Syria by the natives, is powdered charcoal (made of burnt bread); a teaspoonful of which, in a cup of sugarless coffee, is a good daily dose. For Mosquito Bites, bathing the parts in milk and vinegar is a good corrective. Or dissolve carbonate of soda in a teaspoonful of water; warm over a candle, and apply.

Fees at Churches, Galleries, &c.—One franc, or about that value, is sufficient for a party, except in cases where the galleries are not usually shown to travellers. 50 centimes is sufficient for a party of two. In churches no fees are necessary except for special services.

Language.—Every traveller should, if possible, make himself acquainted with the language of the country, before he goes to travel in it; even a very slight knowledge of it will often be found useful. To know the language is to have a double purse. The French language will suffice for Belgium, the Rhine and its vicinity, Switzerland, Piedmont, and the chief towns of Northern Italy. It is not generally known in the German States, nor in the provincial towns of Italy nor in the Tyrol. In most of the Continental Hotels the manager or some of the waiters speak English. Parties not speaking the language, and employing an interpreter, should be particular in their arrangement with him as to the amount of remuneration.—For Vocabulary of common words and phrases, see Special Edition.

Letters.—Attention to the Notice at p. xlvii. respecting Letters is recommended. It is, however, always safest to direct letters (paid) to the care of a Banker or even an Hotel. It is hardly possible to appreciate the difficulties of Foreign Postal Authorities in deciphering English names. Travellers on the Continent are advised to see that their letters for India, &c., are sufficiently stamped; if insufficiently prepaid, they are liable to be detained.

Postage.—In the new Postal Union, comprising all Europe (excepting France) Egypt, and the United States; from 1st. July the postage on all letters from any country to any other in the Union is 2½d. under ½oz.; post cards are 1½d.; newspapers 1d. per 4oz.; books, patterns, &c. 1d. per 2oz. To France until 1st. Jan. 1874 the old rate. Present postage from England to France 3d. under ½oz., or 10 grammes, the weight of an English penny. If "insufficiently prepaid" 9d. extra to charged.

Money Orders can be obtained between England and the following Countries: Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Switzerland, at a commission of 9d. up to £2; 1s. 6d. to £5 3s. to £10.

Expenses—Money.—The expense of travelling on the Continent depends more or less on the habits and means of the traveller and his mode of journeying, and likewise on the rate of charges made in the various countries. It may, however, be remarked that unless the expenditure be very lavish, 20s. per day for each individual ought to cover all expenses, but the amount will not cover long railway journeys. Pedestrian excursions in remote situations can hardly exceed 8s. per day, exclusive of Guides when necessary. The chief expense arises from locomotion. The above amount will be very probably near the mark when the tourist journeys 70 or 80 miles a day, if only 40 or 50 miles the expenses, then, are not likely to be more than 15s. per day. Bank of England notes will be found the most economical and safe mode of carrying money on the Continent to meet expenses. For particulars, see page lii.

At the Railroad Stations you are frequently liable to be cheated by sovereigns being reckoned as Napoleons. English sovereigns ought to be taken at all the hotels at their current value.

Miscellaneous.—A small pocket Compass will be found useful, especially to pedestrians.

Thermometer Table.—Réaumur's thermometer is generally used on the Continent. To convert degrees of Réaumur into Fahrenheit—if above freezing-point, multiply by 2¼ and add 32; if below, multiply by 2¼ and subtract from 32; thus—

17 R × 2¼ = 38¼; add 32 = 70¼ F. of heat.

8 R × 2¼ = 18; sub. 18 from 32 = 14 F. of cold.

To convert degrees of Celsius or Centigrade into those of Fahrenheit, multiply by 1 and four-fifths, and add 32 if above freezing-point; or subtract if below it.

The table annexed will enable the traveller to equalise at a glance the degrees of Réaumur and Centigrade with those of Fahrenheit.

Kilomètre and Mètre Tables:—

All distances on Railways in France, Spain, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, and Italy are now measured by the Kilomètre (kilometro, chilometro, &c.) equal to 1000 mètres. One mètre = 1·094 English yard = 3·281 feet = 39·37 inches = 1 1-10th yard nearly. Hence, to turn mètres into yards add 1-10th; to turn yards into mètres, subtract 1-11th. Hence, as a rule, 10 mètres = 32·81 feet; 100 mètres = 328·1 1000 mètres (or kilomètre) = 3,281 feet, or 5 furlongs nearly. Hence, a kilomètre = 5-8ths of a mile, nearly; or 6 miles = 10 kilom.; or 10 miles = 16 kilom., nearly.

In using these tables, remember that 8 kilom. (for example being 1·863 miles 3 kilos which be 18·63 miles, 30 will be 186·3, and so on. Hence, to turn 868 kilom (or 868 an e) into miles, say 3·0 = 186·3, 60 = 37·3, and 6 = 3·7; total, 227·3 miles.

Practical Information for Travellers in France.

Travellers landing at Calais, and intending to proceed immediately to Paris, may avoid an inspection of their baggage till they reach Paris, by making a declaration to that effect at the Custom-house, and paying a fee of 7 to 10 sous each package for a receipt which is granted for reclaiming the same at his destination. Travellers proceeding THROUGH FRANCE to Belgium direct, will avoid examination by the French Custom-house authorities by making a similar declaration as to their destination.

The Traveller upon his arrival at Boulogne and Calais is now allowed to take his luggage on shore with him: bags, single portmanteaus, &c., are examined on board the boats by the French Custom-house Officers who are very civil and obliging. When a commissionnaire is employed, he is entitled to receive for his trouble only that which he had previously agreed for. No traveller can be charged anything for his luggage beyond the following sums, which include the expenses of landing, warehousing, and conveying to any part of the town:—Packages under 10lb. weight, 35 centimes; 10lb. to ½ cwt., 70 centimes; ½cwt. to 2 cwt., 1 f. 50 cents; above 2 cwt., 1 fr. 50 cents.

Travellers Carrying Fire Arms Through France.—In answer to numerous correspondents in the United Kingdom and America, we are enabled to state, that Travellers (especially British and American) are allowed to take with them, as part of their personal luggage, one sporting gun, one sporting rifle, and one revolver or pistol, providing the latter is not under 15 centimetres in length, on declaration of the same being their own private property; but military weapons, cartridges or gunpowder, are strictly prohibited, without previous permission of the Minister of War at Paris—the Custom authorities having no power in the matter.

NOTICE.—All articles such as wearing apparel, not having being WORN, must be declared at the Custom-house. Travellers not conforming to this regulation, will incur not only the confiscation of the articles not declared, but also the payment of a fine.

IN TAKING FURNISHED APARTMENTS, the stranger should have a written agreement, with an inventory, signed by both parties, containing a precise account of the furniture, even to a plate. He must also have a stipulation therein that the landlord pays the furniture tax, which is levied in October and April, otherwise the party will have to pay, notwithstanding the furniture is the property of the landlord.

RENTING HOUSES.—All rent is paid in advance quarterly, but if a house is rented for a term, the tenant cannot remove his goods therefrom until he has paid the entire rent to the landlord, of the whole term. A TENANT must answer for the effect of fire in his rooms, unless he can show that the fire was occasioned by accident.

SERVANTS in France are engaged by the month: masters possess the right of discharging their servants when they think proper, according to a regulation established by the JUGE-DE-PAIX, and servants can leave their places when they like; but in this case they are only paid by the day.

Strange Visitors are not subject to the payment of taxes; personal and furniture taxe are levied only on foreigners who are residents at the time the annual lists are revised i October and April.

Carriages are hired at the rate of two francs per hour, and, if the journey is ever so shor the charge of two francs is expected unless an agreement to the contrary is made beforehand

Dogs.—The owners have to pay a tax of 12 francs each per annum

Travellers should bear in mind, that if articles liable to duty are contained among the luggage, they must make declaration of such at the French or English Custom-house; whic will avoid forfeiture or other subsequent unpleasantness. Letters for posting found amon passengers' baggage at the French or English Custom-houses, subject the sender an bearer to penal consequences at the instance of the authorities of both countries.

NOTE.—It is customary abroad to touch or remove the hat when entering an office or shop, o when addressing a gentleman in the streets or elsewhere.

Poste Restante.—Letters for the Continent should be addressed very legibly, particu larly the Christian and Surname, which latter should be UNDERLINED, omitting "Esquire" or other title. As the Officers of Foreign Post Offices experience great difficulty in reading Englis writing, and especially from the pronunciation of English names, persons applying for letter should present their cards of their names written plainly. Example:—

"MR. JAMES THOMPSON,"	Postage Stamp.
OR "SIR WILLIAM BROWN,"
POSTE RESTANTE,
FRANCE. PARIS.

Foreign and Ship Letter Mails made up in London.—Letters for the Foreign Mails ar received at St. Martin's-le-Grand and Lombard-street, up to SIX o'clock; from SIX till SEVEN, on pay ment of ONE PENNY extra: and from SEVEN till HALF-PAST SEVEN, on payment of SIXPENCE extra after which they will not be forwarded until the following day.

The charge for a Packet of Printed Papers other than British Newspapers, duly registered at th General Post Office for transmission to any part of Europe—Not exceeding 2 ounces, 1d., an so on, as mentioned on p. xlv.

Upon Newspapers addressed to the Ionian Islands, specially directed to be sent via France, an upon Newspapers for Malta, specially directed to be sent "by French Packet via Marseilles," th former rates of postage must be paid in advance; but printed papers other than newspapers addressed to the Ionian Islands and Malta, will not be sent at a reduced rate of postage b way of France. They may, however, be forwarded via Southampton under the Colonial Boo Post Regulations.

Under the term "Printed Papers" are included periodical works other than registered newspapers stitched or bound books, pamphlets, sheets of music, catalogues, prospectuses announcements, and notices of every kind, whether printed, engraved, or lithographed.

The following regulations must be strictly observed:

1. Every packet must be sent without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides.

2. There must be no enclosure, except newspapers or other printed papers.

3. There must be no other writing or marks upon the newspapers or printed papers than th name and address of the person to whom they are sent, nor anything upon the cover but such name and address, the printed title of the papers, and the printed name and address of the publisher o vender who sends them.

If any of the above regulations be disregarded, or if the whole postage be not paid in advance the packets will either be detained, or forwarded charged as unpaid letters.

Newspapers addressed to the Mediterranean or the East Indies, and intended to be sent in the closed mails by way of Marseilles will continue liable to the existing regulations, including the present rates of postage.

7 A Passport cannot be issued by the Foreign-office, or by an agent at an outport, on behalf a person already abroad; such person, being a British-born subject, should apply for one to the rest British Mission or Consulate. A passport cannot be issued abroad to a naturalized British-ject except for a direct journey to England or in the case of a Colonial naturalized subject for a ney back to the Colony where he has been naturalized. Neither can a passport granted at the eign Office to a naturalized British subject for a limited period be renewed by Her Majesty's lomatic or Consular Agents in Foreign Countries; but only at the Foreign Office.

8. The bearer of every passport granted by the Foreign Office should sign his passport as soon as receive it; without such signature either the visa may be refused, or the validity of the passport sioned abroad. Travellers who may have any intention of visiting the Russian Empire at any e in the course of their travels are particularly and earnestly advised not to quit England hout having had their passports visés at the Russian Consulate in London, 17 Great Winchester et, E.C. Persons proceeding to Cuba, Portugal, or Turkey, should also have their passports visés the Spanish Consulate, 155, Fenchurch Street; the Portuguese Consulate, 8, St Mary Axe; and the Turkish Embassy, 1, Bryanston Square, respectively. Travellers about to proceed to any other ntry need not obtain the visa of the Diplomatic or Consular Agents of such country, resident in United Kingdom.

N.B.—Although British subjects are now free to enter France and Belgium without Passport and rules about Passports have been virtually relaxed in several other countries, nevertheless, British jects about to visit the Continent are recommended not to omit to provide themselves with sports; for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory, they are found to be con-lient, as offering a ready means of identification, and more particularly when letters have to be me at a poste restante.

The attention of the English traveller is called to the following significant notice:—

"September, 1874.—In France the Minister of the Interior has decided that all English, Belgian, ss, and Italian travellers not provided with Passports, will in future be expected, when required do so by French police agents to prove their identity and nationality. Instructions to this effect e been sent to all seaport and frontier authorities." In short, it is the Traveller's best protection inst the ignorance or caprice of local officials, who have it in their power to make themselves agreeable when they choose.

Russia.—Members of the Medical Profession proceeding to Russia with a view of practising in that country, must first obtain a diploma from St. Petersburg.

Governesses proceeding to Russia must obtain a Certificate of Competency from the Russian sul in London, which will be granted upon production of proper testimonials of character and lity; a fee of 5s. 3d. is charged at the Consulate for such certificate.

It is always advisable to be provided with a Passport, at all times useful as a proof of the Traveller's identity and now and then asked for (especially in some parts of Germany and Italy.) It will often serve a useful purpose by admitting the traveller to museums and buildings otherwise closed to him; and if only for this reason, the passport should be considered necessary, especially as it is never very easily obtained at a trifling cost. NOTE.—A visé is absolutely necessary for Travelling in RUSSIA, TURKEY, and EGYPT, and a passport must always be provided by travellers visiting Spain, Greece, and Portugal.

FOREIGN MONEY.

Circular Notes of small denomination are now issued (£10, £20) for the convenience of the traveller not wishing to draw a larger sum at each place, payable at all the principal cities and towns on the Continent of Europe, and the United States and Canada, as well as Scotland and Ireland, Madeira, &c.

Circular notes are issued by most of the principal London bankers, and form a very safe and convenient kind of letters of credit. The arrangements for cashing them in the various countries through which the traveller may have to pass are very simple and efficient, precluding almost the possibility of fraud. A letter indicating the names of the various correspondents abroad, accompanies them, which must be produced on presenting a note for payment, and we should advise tourists as a precaution to keep the letter always separate from the notes. The establishment of the Cheque Bank of No. 10, Pall Mall, East, and 124, Cannon Street, will be found extremely convenient to Continental Travellers as their Cheques may be filled up for amounts from £1 and upwards, and payable at any Banker's in the principal Continental cities.

The most advantageous money for travellers proceeding to Germany are 20 Mark Gold Pieces or Thaler or Gulden Notes, according as their destination is for the North or South. Prussian dollars and florins are the most serviceable silver coins. It is scarcely necessary to hint at the advantage of being always provided with small change in the legal current coin of the country through which the traveller passes, as every exchange entails a consequent loss. English Money and Bank Notes can be exchanged in the principal Continental Cities, but it is naturally more advantageous to be provided with Foreign Currency before leaving for the Continent.

GOLD and SILVER COIN TABLE, showing the value obtainable for the following Gold and Silver Coins in different Continental countries:—

The values indicated, are those obtainable on the 26th July, 1875, which vary according to the fluctuations in the rates of exchange.

NOTE—The FARES via Paris or Cologne to places beyond those cities, are calculated at the rates of the direct through Fares by Express Trains; but we give the Fares by all the other Routes as well, so that any person can select the one which offers the greatest attraction, and travel by Express or Ordinary Train, as he thinks proper.

The Through Tickets may afford some convenience to a traveller going direct to his destination; but to persons making a rambling or discursive tour on the Continent, "fancy led," they are an inconvenience, as they preclude the holder from deviating from the prescribed Route; for a Tourist once in possession of such a ticket is no longer free—the ticket, and not his will, must be his guide, as it obliges the traveller to follow the route it indicates.
